Authors are solely responsible for the factual accuracy of the manuscripts.

Text should comprise an abstract, keywords, introduction, experimental (materials and methods), results and discussion and references. Abstracts should not be of more than 200 words and should not contain literature references. An abstract may not be necessary for short communications. The symbols, abbreviations, units and nomenclature used in the text should be in conformity with the recommendations of IUPAC.

Figures in electronic form should not be embedded in the text, but be added at the end of the text, one in each page. Figures must be of high quality and care should be taken so that the electronically transmitted form retain the high quality.

References to articles of journals should be given in this order: initials and last name(s), standard abbreviated title of the periodical, volume number, first page number and the year of publication in parentheses, e.g.,

B. N. Ghosh, S. P. Moulik, K. K. Sen Gupta and P. K. Pal, J. Ind. Chem. Soc., 40, 138 (1963).

References to a paper or a chapter in a book, a book with more than one author or an edited book should be listed in the following style:

R.C.Srivastava, 'Liquid Membrane Phenomena : Biological Implications' ; Indian Society for Surface Science and Technology, Kolkata (2002).

H.Seki and A.Suzuki, 'Adsorption of Metal Ions onto Humic Acid' in Surface of Nanoparticles and Porous Materials, Eds. J.A. Schwarz and C.I. Contescu, Surfactant Science Series, Vol 78. Marcel Dekker, New York (1999).

Proofs will be sent to the author electronically. Corrections should be intimated by e-mail within 48 hours. Please intimate your requirement for Reprints (25 copies) along with the corrected galley proof.

THE JOURNAL OF SURFACE SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY

(An International Journal)

(A Publication of Indian Society for Surface Science and Technology, Jadavpur University, Kolkata, India)

*Editors : M. K. Basu (India),
C.-H. Chang (Taiwan), R. Debnath
(India) and S. Ghosh (India)*

Journal of Surface Science and Technology was born to the world of scientific literature in 1985 following a resolution of Indian Society for Surface Science and Technology which was established in 1983 at the Valedictory Session of the first National Conference on Surfactants, Emulsions and Biocolloids held at Jadavpur University, Kolkata, India.

Besides dissemination of specialized knowledge in the field of colloid and surface science, the prime motivation for the new journal was to project research and development activities in India and other countries. In view of the ever growing impact and acceptance of the journal in the scientific community, it was launched as an international version in 1988 with an international editorial advisory board. The Journal of Surface Science and Technology enjoys a wide readership. Renowned scientists and researchers around the world contribute articles of contemporary interest in the concerned fields at regular intervals, Articles, short communications, reviews and book reviews are published in the journal. It also publishes news of announcements of national and international seminars, conferences, workshops and other related information in the area of colloid and surface science. Since its inception, the journal is regularly abstracted by the Chemical Abstract Service, USA. Four issues of the journal are published yearly.

Keeping track with the advancement in the area of surface science and technology, the journal offers a valuable source of information and references to the scientists, researchers and technologists of the Research and Development sectors of industrial organizations. The regular publication schedule of quality articles in the journal calls for wider circulation of the journal and increase in the number of subscribers.

Indian Society for Surface Science and Technology is to be contacted for subscription, request for reprints, sale and distribution of the Journal of Surface Science and Technology.
